

Critter Character Creator Competition

You are invited to the Critter Character Creator Competition! Inspired by the Museum of Cambridge's current temporary exhibition, 'Making Angelina: The World of Helen Craig', children can design their own animal characters, with a chance to meet 'Angelina Ballerina' illustrator Helen Craig and win some amazing 'Angelina Ballerina' prizes.

To enter, all children need to do is come up with their very own Critter Character (an animal that acts like a person), draw it and give it a name, then scan or photograph it and send it to the Museum. The competition will then be judged by illustrator Helen Craig, who will award a prize for the best character from children in Years 1-3 and one to the best character from children in Years 4-6.

This competition is for children in Years 1-6, limited to one entry per child. Children must attend a school in Cambridgeshire, or be otherwise educated in Cambridgeshire. The prizes are non-monetary and awarded at the discretion of Helen Craig and the Museum of Cambridge. Entries should be completed on the provided page overleaf - no more than one side of A4 - and include a contact email address for an adult responsible for the child's entry. Winners will be contacted via the provided email address. Data will only be stored for this purpose, in compliance with GDPR and the Museum of Cambridge's Privacy Policy.

Scan or photograph and return the entry to enquiries@museumofcambridge.org.uk with Competition Entry as the subject line.

The competition runs from Monday 23rd March to Friday 1st May 2026. Any entries received after this time will not be considered.

Museum of Cambridge

Draw your Critter Character here! A Critter Character is an animal that acts like a person, just like Angelina Ballerina. Make sure to give your character a name!

The name of my Critter Character is _____

Name:

Age:

School Year:

Contact email address:

Museum of Cambridge

Scan or photograph this page and email it to enquiries@museumofcambridge.org.uk with Competition Entry as the subject line.